HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 17, 1909.

The House met at 12 o'clock noon.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. Henry N. Couden, D. D.

The Journal of the proceedings of yesterday was read and approved.

THE TARIFF.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to present the following bill, and to have it referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. [Applause.]

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from New York [Mr. PAYNE] presents the following bill, the title of which will be reported by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the title of the bill, as follows:

A bill (H. R. 1438) to provide revenue, equalize duties, and encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of the following resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That there be printed for the use of the two Houses 20,000 copies of House bill 1438, entitled "A bill to provide revenue, equalize duties, and encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes;" 6,000 copies for the use of the Senate and 14,000 for the use of the House.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I should like to inquire of the gentleman from New York where these 14,000 copies are to be placed?

Mr. PAYNE. I will ask my colleague [Mr. PERKINS], who was on the Committee on Printing in the last session, whether these copies would go to the folding room or to the document room, nothing being said about it in the resolution?

Mr. PERKINS. They would go to the folding room.

Mr. PAYNE. The statement of my colleague is that they would go to the folding room, under the resolution, without other special direction.

Mr. PERKINS. Unless there is a direction to the contrary, when documents are ordered to be distributed, part to the Senate and part to the House, they go to the folding room and are divided pro rata among Members.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. That is the way I want them to go, so every man can get his share.

Mr. MICHAEL E. DRISCOLL. Mr. Speaker, I would ask my colleague if these 14,000 copies are to be distributed among the Members pro rata?

Mr. PAYNE. I am informed that under this resolution the copies will go to the folding room and be distributed equally among the Members of the House.

Mr. KEIFER. I will ask the gentleman from New York whether or not the print will contain, either in the margin or otherwise, a statement of the existing duties on the different articles, so that we may have the comparison before us? It seems to me that would be practicable and would save expense.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say in reply to the inquiry of the gentleman from Ohio that I have already prepared a statement, to go into the report of the committee when the bill is reported, showing the changes that have been made from the existing law. There is also in course of preparation a comparative print of the present law and the proposed law. It will take a little time to complete it.

Mr. SCOTT. I should like to inquire whether it is the intention to ask for the printing of an additional number of copies of this report?

Mr. PAYNE. The report can not be made until the committee agree to report the bill. When the report is presented, which will be in open House, we will consider the question of printing copies of it.

Mr. SCOTT. It seems to me there ought to be an additional number of copies of the report.

Mr. PAYNE. I agree with the gentleman. I think that is correct; but that question has not been considered yet.

Mr. LIVINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, will there be anything connected with or accompanying the report that will show the present revenue on the different articles and the expected revenue under the new schedules?

Mr. PAYNE. That information will be contained in the report.

Mr. WEEKS. I should like to ask the gentleman from New York if he proposes to ask for an additional print of the bill?

Mr. PAYNE. That is the pending resolution, for 20,000 copies of the bill, 14,000 for the House.

Mr. WEEKS. That would only give about 35 to each Member, and I certainly have applications for ten times that number now.

Mr. PAYNE. I will say to the gentleman that if there is a demand for additional copies, of course the House will grant any reasonable request of that kind.

Mr. HAMILTON. Why not ask for it now?

Mr. PAYNE. I fixed the number of 20,000 copies because that was the number fixed in the resolution offered by Mr. Dingley when the Dingley bill was introduced in the House.

Mr. HUGHES of West Virginia. I think that number should be increased.

Mr. PAYNE. It will be very easy to pass an additional resolution.

Mr. TAWNEY. If the gentleman will pardon me, the bill has just been introduced. Now, when the committee reports the bill back to the House there can be additional copies, and that will be the official bill from the committee. This is not the official bill of the committee.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, of course this bill is now only the bill as introduced. The Committee on Ways and Means will have a meeting to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock to consider the bill, and, I hope, will report the bill back at an early date to the House. Then the bill will be the official bill, coming from the committee. At that time, if additional copies are required, I should be very glad to offer a resolution myself, as any Member may, for the printing of sufficient copies for the use of the House. I think this is sufficient for the present print of the bill.

Mr. BENNET of New York. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. PAYNE. I yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. BENNET of New York. I would ask my colleague if the printing law, which has been passed since the Dingley law, does not call for a modification of this resolution, and if without undue extravagance it would not be possible to authorize a much larger number. I agree with the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. WEEKS] that our requests call for something like ten times as much as we can supply under this resolution.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, in response to what seems to be a strong demand on the part of the House, if the consideration of the resolution is authorized at this time, I will myself offer an amendment increasing the number 50 per cent—to 30,000.

Mr. BENNET of New York. Why not make it 40,000?

Mr. KEIFER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. PAYNE. Yes.

Mr. KEIFER. I was going to inquire of the gentleman from New York [Mr. PAYNE], Mr. Speaker, whether or not there is any likelihood of a different bill coming in from the committee; and if there is, whether it would not be possible to postpone the printing of so large a number as 30,000 at this time and then print only the committee bill when it comes in, and all that may seem to be necessary?

Mr. PAYNE. I would say in response to the gentleman from Ohio, Mr. Speaker, that I can not forestall the action of the committee, and still I hope that the bill will be reported back from the committee precisely as it was introduced to the House to-day.

Mr. MANN. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. PAYNE. I yield to the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. MANN. The gentleman stated that he would offer an amendment increasing the number, at the request of gentlemen in the House. Does not the gentleman believe it would be a little better if this bill is to be reported back to the House, probably this week, to have a larger number printed of the committee bill as reported, instead of having a great number printed of the bill as introduced?

Mr. PAYNE. I would say that was my idea as expressed to the House.

Mr. MANN. Then I hope the gentleman will maintain his idea. Twenty thousand of this are enough to begin with, and then, when the bill is reported back, the bill and the report can be sent out together in large numbers.

Mr. STEPHENS of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I have been unable to get a copy of the bill. A great many other gentlemen on this side of the House are in the same fix, and I would like to know how many have been distributed this morning.

Mr. MACON. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman a question, and that is, How many copies of this bill have already been printed?

Mr. PAYNE. Well, I can not give the precise number, but sufficient for the House and the Senate both. If there are any Members who have not copies, I will say that I shall see they have them to-day.

Mr. MACON. I would like to know of the gentleman what have become of the copies brought into the House. Quite a number of gentlemen around me can not secure copies.

Mr. PAYNE. More than sufficient copies have been brought in here for each Member of the House. I regret exceedingly if in the distribution some Members have not received copies.

Mr. MACON. Mr. Speaker, under the circumstances I shall withhold my consent for the present.

Mr. DALZELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to state that a gentleman connected with the Printing Office has just suggested to me that it would be much more sensible to have this bill printed in document shape at this time, so that it can be sent through the mail with much greater facility than it can if printed as a bill and at very much less expense. In addition to that, it would be much more convenient for people reading the bill. I suggest that the gentleman from New York modify his resolution so as to cover that point.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I think that the suggestion of the gentleman from Pennsylvania is a good one, and I will make the additional suggestion that it would be a good thing if we had an index printed with it. What the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. MACON] was talking about—there is so much uproar that one can hardly be heard—and what I am talking about is that every Member wants a copy of this bill, and there are about 50 or 60 Members who are short of copies over here.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I am informed that an abundant number of copies was brought into the House for distribution.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. Then somebody has gobbled them.

Mr. PAYNE. They were distributed by the pages of the House. The pages report that some Members of the House took two or three copies from them, or more, and so there is a shortage now for the Members of the House. It was not through any fault of the committee or of mine.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. I was not accusing the gentleman of doing anything wrong.

Mr. PAYNE. An ample number was provided for each Member to have a copy.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. But I am trying to find out who has the copies.

Mr. MANN. I will suggest to the gentleman from Missouri that the Printing Office will undoubtedly send copies enough to the document room inside of an hour to furnish every Member with a copy.

Mr. HENRY of Texas. I would like to ask the gentleman from New York if there are not copies enough now in the room of the Ways and Means Committee?

Mr. GARRETT. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from New York yield to the gentleman from Tennessee?

Mr. PAYNE. I will yield to the gentleman from Tennessee.

Mr. GARRETT. I want to ask, if this is printed as a document, as suggested by the gentleman from Pennsylvania, if that will change the manner of its distribution; will it still be distributed through the folding room?

Mr. PAYNE. Of course. I think myself it is a good suggestion to have it printed as a document.

Mr. GARRETT. I think so, too, if it will not change the manner of distribution.

Mr. TAWNEY rose.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from New York yield to the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. PAYNE. I will.

Mr. TAWNEY. Mr. Speaker, the printing of this bill, either in the form of a document or in the form in which it is now introduced, will be of very little value to our constituents. The information which they want will be afforded by a comparison with the existing law. I understand from the gentleman from New York [Mr. PAYNE] that it is the purpose of the committee in reporting the bill to the House to accompany it with a report that will give this information.

It seems to me the practical thing to do now is to print enough bills to meet the demand of the Members on the floor and then wait for the printing of the bills for distribution until the bill has been reported from the committee with the accompanying report and the comparative statement, so that our constituents will know what changes are made by glancing at the report itself.

Mr. DOUGLAS. When will that be done?

Mr. TAWNEY. In a day or two, when the committee makes its report. It seems to me to be an unnecessary expense to print 20,000 copies of the bill just introduced when the information which the country wants will accompany the bill when reported by the Committee on Ways and Means. This bill with its report ought to go to the country, otherwise they will not know what changes are proposed, and that is the information the country wants.

The SPEAKER. The first question is whether the House by unanimous consent will consider this resolution.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. Which resolution is it that we have up now; the resolution of the gentleman from New York, or the resolution of the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

Mr. PAYNE. There is no resolution for which consideration is asked except that introduced by the gentleman from New York. If we get consent for consideration, then I will yield to the gentleman from Missouri for any suggestion he has to make.

Mr. HAMILTON. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. PAYNE. I will yield to the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. HAMILTON. In view of the proposal to print the bill in document form instead of in bill form, does the gentleman from New York anticipate that there will be any difference between the bill as reported by the committee and the bill as now introduced?

Mr. PAYNE. I have said several times—

Mr. HAMILTON. I did not hear the gentleman.

Mr. PAYNE (continuing). That I hoped the committee would report the bill as introduced.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from New York yield to the gentleman from Kentucky?

Mr. PAYNE. Yes.

Mr. JAMES. In view of the fact that there are several thousand schedules in the tariff bill just presented by the gentleman from New York [Mr. PAYNE], I think it is entirely too hazardous to say that it will be reported back exactly as the gentleman from New York has introduced it; and with that view of it, I am unwilling that the Government should be put to the expense of printing several thousand copies of this bill until it is finally reported to the House by the committee, and therefore I object.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Kentucky [Mr. JAMES] objects.

Mr. FOWLER rose.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. FOWLER. I rise to make a motion to authorize the printing of the bill and report when the comparative statement is made which the gentleman from New York speaks of.

Mr. PAYNE. That will come up when the bill is reported.

COMMITTEE ON MILEAGE.

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces the following Committee on Mileage.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. KENNEDY of Iowa, Mr. LUNDIN of Illinois, Mr. GARNER of Pennsylvania, Mr. Lewis of Georgia, and Mr. DENVER of Ohio.

Mr. BARTLETT of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, Mr. E. B. Lewis, of Georgia, is not a Member of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair stands corrected, and the Chair will appoint the gentleman from Georgia.

Mr. BARTLETT of Georgia. I decline the appointment. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

The SPEAKER. The gentleman declines to act; and without objection, the Chair will announce the appointment of the gentleman from Kentucky [Mr. JAMES].

Mr. JAMES. And the gentleman from Kentucky refuses to accept. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

The SPEAKER. It is for the House to determine whether the gentleman from Kentucky shall be excused from acting. As many as are in favor of excusing the gentleman from Kentucky will say "aye," and those opposed will say "no."

The question was taken, and the Speaker announced that the ayes seemed to have it.

Mr. LANGLEY. I ask for a division.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Kentucky ask for a division?

Mr. LANGLEY. On the suggestion of several Members around me, Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw the demand.

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces as an additional member on this committee the gentleman from Mississippi, Mr. JAMES W. COLLIER.

JOHN T. CHANCEY.

Mr. WEEKS. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution, and ask unanimous consent for its consideration.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

House resolution 19.

Resolved, That John T. Chancey be continued in the service of the House in his present position during the Sixty-first Congress.

Mr. MANN. The gentleman from Massachusetts asked unanimous consent, I take it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Massachusetts asked unanimous consent for the present consideration of this resolution. Is there objection? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none; and without objection, the resolution is agreed to.

There was no objection.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

MINORITY EMPLOYEES.

Mr. CLAYTON. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from New York will withhold his motion for the present.

Mr. CLAYTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

House resolution 20.

Resolved, That during the Sixty-first Congress and until the organization of the Sixty-second Congress Robert E. Coward, jr., be authorized to act as special employee of the House of Representatives, and receive compensation at the rate of $1,800 per annum; that Joseph J. Sinnott and Felton B. Knight be authorized to act as special messengers of the House of Representatives, each to receive a compensation at the rate of $1,500 per annum; and that Paul D. Porter be authorized to act as special chief page of the House of Representatives, at the rate of $1,100 per annum and $700 additional for services as pair clerk.

Said officers shall at all times be under the direction and control of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and they shall be subject to removal for cause at any time.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Alabama if this increases at all the number of employees, or the compensation of any of them, accorded to the minority in the last Congress?

Mr. CLAYTON. It does not; it is the same number of employees and the same employees and the same compensation.

Mr. PAYNE. I have no objection.

Mr. CLAYTON. I now desire, Mr. Speaker, to move to amend the resolution—

The SPEAKER. Unanimous consent has not yet been given.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, what is the gentleman's amendment?

Mr. CLAYTON. I will await the ruling of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair only states that the request for unanimous consent was asked and unanimous consent has not yet been given. The Chair will put the request again, if the gentleman wishes. Is there objection—

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, may I ask the gentleman if his amendment proposes to increase the number, or anything of that kind?

Mr. CLAYTON. I was anticipating the gentleman's desire, and I want to say that the resolution as reported by the Clerk does not. I drew the resolution in the original form in the exact terms that the resolution carried at the last session, and you will find that the compensation afforded to these employees under this resolution is exactly the compensation formerly fixed by law and which they drew. After conversation with my associates the unanimous opinion on this side of the House was that Mr. Sinnott, who is called upon frequently to act as assistant pair clerk, ought to have his pay increased by $300. As I understand it, two such employees are accorded to the majority in the House, a pair clerk and some clerk who assists the pair clerk, each one of whom draws $1,800 a year, as I understand it, and I therefore ask unanimous consent to amend the resolution so as to increase the compensation to Mr. Sinnott by $300, making his total salary $1,800 per annum.

Mr. MANN. What is the compensation which he receives now?

Mr. CLAYTON. Fifteen hundred dollars.

Mr. MANN. How long has he been receiving that compensation, and when was that increased, if the gentleman knows?

Mr. CLAYTON. I can not answer the gentleman, but it is no new thing. I think he has been drawing that compensation a good long time.

Mr. MANN. I think the gentleman is mistaken. The gentleman's compensation was increased when other compensations were increased, about a year ago.

Mr. CLAYTON. Perhaps the gentleman is correct.

Mr. PAYNE. I would suggest to the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. CLAYTON] that he ask unanimous consent for the passage of the resolution in its present form, and then offer an amendment, which can go to the Committee on Accounts and be reported.

Mr. CLAYTON. Very well, then. I will let it take that course. Mr. Speaker, I ask for the adoption of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Alabama asks unanimous consent for the adoption of the resolution. Is there objection?

Mr. KEIFER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask a question before this is decided.

Mr. CLAYTON. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KEIFER. I understood the resolution as read to provide for these people in the first session of the Sixty-second Congress.

Mr. CLAYTON. No.

Mr. KEIFER. I misunderstood it, then.

Mr. CLAYTON. Now, Mr. Speaker, I ask for the adoption of the resolution.

The question was taken, and the resolution was agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from New York [Mr. PAYNE], that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly (at 12 o'clock and 34 minutes p. m.) the House adjourned.
